

Snowball Fun

Using newspapers, magazine pages, or scrap paper, have children scrunch the paper into “snowballs.”

For more challenge, the children can then aim the “snowballs” into a basket or see if they can throw them past a taped line on the floor. If there’s enough space, you could even pretend to have a snowball fight.

More Support: Offer crumpled paper or “snowballs” for children to explore. Model and narrate squeezing, unraveling, tossing, or moving it from hand to hand.

Narrate or Label Use of Fine Motor Skills

“You are squeezing your hands really tight when you scrunch that paper to make a ‘snowball.’”
